Here you provide an abstract (summary) of your thesis or dissertation. Abstracts for master's degree must not be more than two pages. Abstracts for doctoral dissertations must not be more than 350 words. The text of your abstract is typed like this sample paragraph: double-spaced, aligned flush left, with one inch margins on the top, bottom, left and right of the page, consistent with the rest of your thesis or dissertation. The headings on your abstract are typed single-space, according to the examples shown above. Your abstract is to be a concise summary of your dissertation's or thesis' study and purpose, fully understandable without reference to the dissertation or thesis itself. Your abstract ought not to contain any parenthetical or bracketed references.
